TED'S CARDS REORGANIZE

Tedeschini's Cardinals softball team have recently reorganized for the season.

This club should go far this year, as they have a fine reputation in Pass softball.

The club this week received snappy sweatshirts, donated by the F. M. Thompson Co.

The squad, known as "Ted's Cards", is being coached by Bruno Tedeschini and managed by Louis Pozzi.

Note—Ted's Cards will accept any softball challenge in the Crown's Nest Pass. For further information write or phone L. Pozzi, Blairmore.—B. Ted.

ONE OF THE OLDEST

PIONEERS PASSES

Death claimed one of the oldest of the pioneers of the Crown's Nest Pass on Thursday noon in the person of Joseph Montalbetti, who died in the local hospital following an illness of about two months.

Deceased was born in Murnago, Italy, seventy-two years ago, and emigrated to Canada in 1888, coming to Blairmore in the year 1898, working with the C.P.R. construction gang ahead of steel. After being section foreman for a number of years, he opened up a furniture store here, and retired in 1928. In 1932 he paid a visit to his old home in Italy, where he remained till October of last year, when he returned to Blairmore to reside with his son Peter.

Mr. Montalbetti was a charter member of the local lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, and also charter member of Crowview Rebekah Lodge. For quite a number of years he served on the Blairmore town council. He is survived by his son, Peter, of Blairmore; a daughter, Ada, in the United States, and a brother, Felix, at Bluffton, Alberta.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of A. E. Ferguson, of the Crown's Nest Funeral Home. We understand the funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon, and will be under auspices of the L.O.O.F. and Rebekahs.

Word has been received that his daughter is enroute from Montana to attend the funeral, and that his brother Felix will arrive from Bluffton by tonight's train.

COLUMBUS CLUB

ORGANIZE FOR SEASON

At a meeting recently held of the Columbus Club of Blairmore, it was decided to sponsor a baseball team to be known as the C.C. Cardinals. The team will enter the C.N. Pass Baseball League, and it is rumored they are already making arrangements to bring in some first-class material, so that the baseball fans of the town will be assured of some classy ball this season.

In the club lineup for 1938 will be seen some old faces, as well as many new ones. The club will also endeavor to enter other sports that may be sponsored in Blairmore, such as softball, basketball, tennis, hiking, track and field events, etc., as well as social and literary functions.—B. Ted.

It has remained for the Social Credit government of Alberta, under the leadership of William Aberhart, to promulgate a series of enactments which, if allowed to pass into operative law, will constitute the most disgraceful instruments of political vengeance this Dominion has ever known. Indeed, they have no parallel in our history—Montreal Daily Star.

PEE-WEE TEAMS STARTED

Softball fans of Blairmore and the Pass will have an opportunity to see pee-wee softball this summer. A team to be known as the Penny Savers, sponsored by Kubik's Groceteria, are sporting new sweaters of green and brown. The squad is being coached by John Petrik, assisted by A. Pozzi, while Joe Lenchucka will handle the secretarial end of the team.

Other pee-wee teams have been noticed on the field practicing, and it is hoped they will soon start playing.—B. Ted.

CANUCKS START TRAINING

The Blairmore Canucks baseball team last week started training. At a recent meeting of the club, it was decided that the ball team reorganize and enter the Crown's Nest Pass Baseball League, as in previous years.

The Canucks promise to field a strong lineup this season.—B. Ted.

VICTORIA DAY AT BELLEVUE

TROUT FISHING IS

TWO WEEKS EARLIER

It is announced that this year trout fishing will open on June 1 instead of June 15. This applies to the waters from the boundary to the Bow River. North of the Bow the season opens May 15th. Fishing opened at Lake Minnewanka and Waterton Lake on May 16th. Other waters in the National Parks are closed till July 1st.

All holders of fishing licenses this year will wear badges which they must wear conspicuously on front or back while engaged in the sport of fishing. The badges will be issued with the licenses and will add a pretty touch to the fishing ensemble.

The size limit in rainbow, Dolly Varden, Lake Leven and speckled trout as well as grayling has been reduced from 9 inches to 8 inches, which will permit us to squeeze a few more into the baskets. Twenty trout per day is the limit, and ten is the limit for lake trout, which must be 15 inches to get by.

ABERHART IS NOT WANTED

A manifesto issued by Premier Patterson states that the Saskatchewan government stands opposed to the establishment of a dictatorship in that province, and pledges support of freedom of speech, a free press, the right of assembly, freedom in matters of religion, and the right of citizens to pursue their selected avocation in life. It disapproves interference in the affairs of one province by the government of another. The people of Saskatchewan are quite competent and willing to conduct their own affairs in their own way and through the instrumentality of their own political organizations without the interference of outside governments.

The government of Canada has been asked by the executive of the General Council of the United Church of Canada to declare an embargo on the shipment from Canada of all materials of war intended for use by Japan. Preamble to the resolution said that "Japan has been declared an aggressor nation in waging war on China... Japan is acting contrary to recognized international law and Christian morality... and Canada has been shipping war material to Japan, and this involves Christians of Canada by making them parties to an act of aggression, etc."

COMPLIMENT TO

GENERAL MOTORS

One of the highest compliments ever paid to General Motors of Canada, and to the workmanship of its Oshawa craftsmen in particular, was a recent cable received by the president, R. S. McLaughlin, from His Royal Highness the Duke of Windsor. The cable read:

"Am very pleased with new Buick delivered today, and wish to express my appreciation and thanks to all who have been engaged in its construction. (Signed) EDWARD."

On top of the honor paid to General Motors by His Royal Highness in opening this year his second Canadian-built Buick comes the above testimony to his complete satisfaction with the new car.

ALBERTA'S $68 MILLIONS STAKE

The extent to which the people of Alberta have invested their money in the "big eastern lending institutions," which Premier Aberhart is trying his best to outlaw, was revealed in a striking way in figures submitted recently before the Rowell Commission at Toronto.

In the brief submitted by the Dominion Mortgage and Investments Association it was disclosed that Alberta citizens have invested no less than $68 millions of their savings with these companies. The figure was prepared from a survey of the liabilities of Canadian land, trust and life insurance companies.

In short, residents of the province have a direct interest to the extent of over $68 millions in the present investments of these institutions.

On the other hand the companies themselves hold mortgages to an aggregate principal amount of only $40 millions in the province, with further sums invested in policy loans, bonds, etc.—Financial Post.

Rev. Dr. Peter Bryce, moderator of the United Church of Canada, has been in Vancouver during the week, attending the annual B.C. conference. He was special preacher at the opening and dedication of the new St. George's United church in that city on Wednesday evening of this week. He will address the Alberta conference at Edmonton on Wednesday next, May 25th, when his subject will be "John Wesley." On Sunday, May 29th, he will preach at the conference church. At Winnipeg on June 6th, Dr. Bryce will speak at a service commemorating the 50th anniversary of Wesley College, and on June 8th will address the Manitoba conference. He will be back in Toronto on June 10th.

Tuesday next, Victoria Day, will be a public holiday.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON

(By T. B. Windsor)

EDMONTON, May 16.—Mass attack inside and outside Alberta on the Social Credit government's debt legislation of the last session, and the demands made upon the Dominion government for disallowance of the five acts constituting that legislation, found Alberta much in the news again this week.

Appeals to the federal government to quash the legislation came from many points, and the Edmonton chamber of commerce assuming the lead with a formal petition pleading for exercise of the Dominion's power to disallow provincial legislation.

The plea for disallowance was made chiefly on the ground that the acts were against public interest and public policy and would wreak havoc, not only upon Alberta, but upon people throughout Canada. The five acts protested, passed at the recent session of the Alberta legislature, were:

1. The Home Owners' Security act, which in the case of a farm home, prohibited any proceedings where the mortgage was dated prior to March 1st of this year, and in the case of a city or town home, required the mortgagee wishing to recover his investment to deposit $2,000 with the court, to be handed over to the mortgagee if foreclosure is effected, regardless of the value of the property or of the mortgage.

2. The Debt Adjustment act amendment, which in effect put all credit at the complete mercy of a board appointed and controlled by the Aberhart government.

3. The Limitations of Actions act amendment, which said in effect that if a creditor signs nothing and pay nothing for the next two years, his debt is cancelled then and he owes nothing.

4. The Tax Recovery act consolidation, which provided a new provision saying that if a mortgagee or any of his close relatives redeems a property which has been defaulted for taxes, that property is thereafter deemed to be free of incumbrances, thereby the act actually encouraged mortgagees to default their taxes, have their land seized, and then receive it back again free of mortgage debt and all other obligations.

5. The Securities Tax act, which required registration of every individual first, second or third mortgage and subjected all to a tax of two per cent, regardless of the status of the mortgage—whether any interest or payments were being paid on it, or by whom it was held—and imposing fantastic penalties running up to 50 per cent of the $250 a year for non-compliance.

All these acts were condemned as being parts of a deliberate attempt by the government to entice Alberta citizens to repudiate their debts, and a calculated effort to prohibit honest creditors from meeting their debts. The acts were declared widely, even in pulpits, to be nothing but legalized confiscation and robbery, aimed at vote-catching and sure to be the cause of the public morals and morals of the people of Alberta, with dire results upon the very people the legislation was supposed to be assisting. Many thousands of Alberta citizens who have invested their meagre savings within the province would be ruined financially by the legislation, it was shown, and the whole province could only suffer in the near course through the loss of investment capital, Dominion confidence and public initiative.

While the federal government was weighing disallowance of the Alberta debt acts, the Alberta government was pouring its energies into Saskatchewan, leading the Social Credit party's political campaign there. Premier Aberhart himself left his own province to jump from town to town in Saskatchewan, shouting for support for his party in the approaching election there. Early indications were that he would have things all his own way, for many of the voters in the sister province are acquainted with the Aberhart government's record of impossible administration in Alberta.

It was no surprise around the legislative buildings in Edmonton when Hon. E. C. Manning left his office here, and the province, to devote full energies to Saskatchewan as Social Credit's campaign manager there. Nor did it cause any surprise when Premier Aberhart, Hon. Lucien Maynard and others followed him. The speeches here at the time of the East Edmonton federal campaign, when Mr. Aberhart and the others condemned Dominion cabinet ministers for daring to conduct in Alberta a federal in a political campaign for a federal seat, were remembered of course. But even when Mr. Aberhart and the others were making those speeches, it was known that they were planning to invade Saskatchewan on speaking tours. And although East Edmonton is part of Canada, Saskatchewan is no part of Alberta.

It remains to be seen, from results, just how pressing was the invitation to the Alberta government members to invade Saskatchewan for this provincial election.

The marriage of Helen Ethel, eldest daughter of Mr. J. Mahovich and the late Mrs. Mahovich, of Coleman, to James Horne Lloyd, of Blairmore, took place at Holy Ghost Catholic rectory, Coleman, on Saturday afternoon last. They have taken up residence in Blairmore.

TO ISOLATE ALBERTA

A petition forwarded to Ottawa by the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce declared:

"Your petitioners submit that the whole, trend of the Alberta 'Social Credit' enactments referred to, and of other 'Social Credit' statutes to which express reference need not here be made, is to isolate Alberta under a separate economy—in trade and commerce, in its monetary and financial system, and in other vital respects—in defiance of or without regard to the provisions of the British North America Act and the Alberta Act, which two acts delimit the powers and authority which may be exercised by any provincial government in Alberta.

"In substance, we have here a deliberate attempt to disrupt Confederation, so that the Alberta 'Social Credit' administration may have a free hand to establish in Alberta 'the new economic order'."

The past week has been a week of accidents. On Friday last a man came into contact with a power saw that severed his thumb. On Saturday another man tripped and fell on a broken bottle, badly lacerating his right hand, necessitating some seven stitches. Radio—A Problem

While criticism is the lot of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation from all sources and, possibly, none of it is justified, there cannot but be some feeling of sympathy for the members of an organization whose "customers" embrace such a wide range of viewpoint and taste as the Canadian radio fans.

Those who take the time to acquire all the facts and data available on the subject—and that is not an easy task—cannot help but be impressed with the belief that the C.B.C. is in a tight corner if it attempts to achieve the impossible, and that is, to please everybody.

In no single home in this country is it possible to secure unanimity of opinion on the type of program that is acceptable to the listeners, to touch only one of the many problems that face the Commission. How much more difficult then, must it be, to satisfy a majority in a community, or the province or the nation. Even if it were possible to ascertain with any degree of certitude the desires of a majority in a local community, it does not by any means follow that a similar verdict would be given by a majority in another community; and there may be, undoubtedly, are variations in taste in different provinces of the Dominion and possibly between east and west. Yet the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is expected to give all the people what they want in the way of music, entertainment and education over the air.

Guiding Principles

Under such conditions about all the C.B.C. can be expected to do is to lay down certain fundamental principles for the guidance of its officials and adhere as closely as possible to these tenets, at least until popular clamor shows that they are on the wrong track.

There is one policy, however, which in the interests of the development of Canadian arts, should not be slighted, and that is the maximum use of Canadian local and national talent wherever it can be unearthed or can be encouraged and developed.

There is reason to believe, judging from comments made by adjudicators who have recently been placing awards in the provincial musical festivals in the western provinces, that there is much talent of a very high order which is being allowed to go to waste, or, if not actually being wasted, is not being made generally available to those who appreciate music to anything like the extent it should be, or could be, if the C.B.C. were prosecuting a vigorous search for good material of Canadian origin.

A Major Objective

When the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation was set up it was announced that one of its objectives would be to develop Canadian talent and, in fact, this was one of the strongest recommendations of the Aird Commission's report in 1929 when the Commission said:

"In our survey of conditions in Canada we have heard the present radio situation discussed from many angles with considerable diversity of opinion. There has, however, been unanimity on one fundamental question—Canadian radio listeners want Canadian broadcasting. At present the majority of programs heard are from sources outside of Canada. It has been emphasized to us that the continued reception of these has a tendency to mould the minds of the young people in the home to ideals and opinions that are not Canadian. In a country of the vast geographical dimensions of Canada broadcasting will undoubtedly become a great force in fostering a national spirit and interpreting national citizenship."

While the present radio governing body in Canada set out with this ideal in mind, unfortunately there has been a recent recession from this principle, with announcements that still more time in future will be devoted to programs of foreign origin—meaning, of course, from United States sources. Inability to finance broadcasting of all-Canadian programs has been given as the reason for this departure from the original objective.

This recession from the all-Canadian ideal is very regrettable and it is to be hoped that means will soon be found for returning to the principles set forth in the Aird Commission report and promulgated when the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation was given charge of "the ether."

Abolish Private Stations?

Commenting on the situation the Labor Review in a recent issue went so far as to suggest that privately-owned stations should be abolished as a means to this end.

"If we are to have a thoroughly Canadian broadcasting service," said the Labor Review, "the privately-owned stations must be abolished. Maintained as they are by advertising, broadcasting in Canada cannot be freed from commercial appeals while the private stations remain. And since much of the paid broadcasting comes from foreign sources the continuance of the private stations militates against the fulfillment of the purpose for which the national radio service was established."

The same author contends that "the only valid reason for the Corporation's acceptance of foreign advertising programs is the need of revenue, a need aggravated by the unsound competition between a state enterprise and private business."

Whether or not this is the correct diagnosis and solution of the problem, certainly it is a matter of grave concern to the country as a whole and is one which should receive the most careful consideration.

Opinion Of Sir Wilfrid

Why More Able Men Entered Parliament In Early Days

When the writer was a member of the Press Gallery at Ottawa, says A. R. Ford, in the London Free Press, we recall asking Sir Wilfrid Laurier at one time whether it was true that the calibre of the members in the early parliaments were superior to those of that day.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied, "Yes." We asked him "Why?" Here is his reply.

"In the early days of Canada business was on a small scale. The rewards of commerce were comparatively meagre. The chief ideal of an ambitious youth lay in politics and law. The ablest men of the country sought a political career. To-day, on the other hand, with the development of big business the opportunities in commerce and finance are such, the rewards are so great, that few young men want to risk a political career with the uncertainties of public life."

Alberta Co-Operatives

Had Best Year Since Inception Seven Years Ago

After issuing or providing for dividends totalling $17,882, the United Farmers of Alberta Central Co-operative Association had a surplus of $8,640 for the year ending March 31, 1938, it was reported following a meeting of board members at Calgary. It was the best year since inception of the association seven years ago.

While total volume of business handled has not been reported as yet, the commission of the association which acts as purchasing agent for country points amounted to $46,649 for the year.

Half-Breed Indian Guide Lived On Game And Herbs

Alton (Seneca Spoke) Draped, 35-year-old half-breed Indian guide, has ended a 30-day "back to nature" stay in the Adirondack woods.

In tattered clothing, he walked in to his home at Star Lake, New York, to end his sojourn, which was planned to "show the world that mother nature is still the friend of man she was in the days of my ancestors." He said, however, that he could not have "held out much longer."

Draper entered the woods April 3, with only his clothing and a hunting knife. During the month he prospected for molybdenum, and lived on muskrat, porcupine, fish and herbs.

National Defence

Position Of Canada On Question Of Armaments

The government desires to create in Canada as far as possible, a national self-sufficiency in armaments against the emergency of war, officials at Ottawa state. However, this does not mean beginning of an extensive armament industry to supply Canada's requirements.

Beyond providing for the current needs of the defence force, the government does not propose to embark on any large expenditures in armaments, it is said. So far as placement in Canada of munitions orders for the British government is concerned, all the information possessed by the defence department relating to the capacity and character of this country's heavy industries has always been available to the war office.

At present three Canadian concerns are understood to be working on British contracts—National Steel Car, Hamilton, manufacturing a comparatively small quantity of 3.45-inch shell casings; the John T. Hepburn Company, Toronto, engaged in manufacture of shell-making machines; and the John Inglis Company Limited, Toronto, recipients of an order for 5,000 Bren guns.

Coincident with the British contract with the Inglis Company is one for the Canadian government involving 7,000 of these light machine guns. That, however, will likely be spread over a period of years. Arrangements which resulted in the John Inglis Company being constituted the first manufacturer of the Bren gun in Canada were designed to achieve economic production, with a general saving to all concerned.

Highway To Alaska

Project Is Favored Of Building Road Through Canada

Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior at Washington, said that conference with British Columbia authorities convinced him of the soundness of a plan to build an international highway from Seattle through Canada to Fairbanks, Alaska.

Ickes said he had "surveyed the whole problem" with Premier T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia and his aides, who came to Washington.

"We discussed the matter of financing the project and the worth of the road as an instrument in opening Alaska and British Columbia and the Yukon territory to further settlement," Ickes said.

Pattullo, the secretary said, suggested the United States lend $15,000,000 to British Columbia to finance the province's share of the project. More than 1,000 miles of new road would have to be constructed in Canada.

At a press conference, Ickes said he could see no particularly troublesome barriers to arranging an international loan although it might be necessary to obtain some enabling legislation.

SELECTED RECIPES

PINEAPPLE UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

(One Egg)

1½ cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour

1½ teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder

¼ teaspoon salt

¾ cup granulated sugar

4 tablespoons softened butter or margarine

1 egg, well beaten

½ cup milk

1½ teaspoons vanilla

4 tablespoons butter

½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed

4 slices pineapple, cut in wedges

1 cup broken pecan meats

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and sugar, and stir together three times. Add butter.

Combine egg, milk, and vanilla. Add to flour mixture, stirring until all flour is dampened; then beat vigorously one minute.

Melt four tablespoons butter in 8 x 8 x 2-inch pan or 8-inch skillet over low flame. Add brown sugar and cook and stir until thoroughly mixed. On this arrange pineapple wedges, and sprinkle nuts over top.

Turn batter out on contents of pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 60 minutes, or until done. Loosen cake from sides of pan with spatula. Turn upside down on dish with pineapple on top. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.

Other fruits may be substituted for pineapple and nuts in this recipe and may be arranged on butter-sugar mixture in the pan. These fruits include cooked prunes or apricots, slices of fresh cherries, seeded, or sliced apples.

An Expensive Rug

New York's Waldorf-Astoria Has One Costing Over $12,000

The Waldorf-Astoria laid a new rug in its Park Avenue lobby last evening recently and we happened to be in on it. It was probably as profane a night as a hotel has ever seen. We will quickly turn down the statistics we gathered. The rug is 48 feet 11 inches by 46 feet 11, and therefore measures 2,295 square feet. It has a pile a little over an inch thick, and sixty-nine shades of yarn are sprinkled into its fifteen million tufts. It took sixteen weavers eight months to make. Only the Mohawk Carpet Mills, W. & J. Sloans, and the Waldorf know how expensive it was, but we got it from a man in the rug trade that the monster must have cost about $80 a square yard, which would come to $12,750. It isn't the biggest rug in the country; the biggest is of 3,946 square feet and is in the Nebraska State Capitol, but that one is monochromatic and consequently less exciting to rug people.

The Waldorf's is bigger than the rug in the Roxy Theatre, from which 12,000 pieces of chewing gum are removed yearly. The Waldorf anticipates no trouble along these lines.—The New Yorker.

Prime Minister Chamberlain Makes Speech On Behalf Of Government

Prime Minister Chamberlain took the major role in a "talkie" made a film studio in London. The film is one of a series to be shown in an open air campaign, on behalf of the National Government during the summer.

Mr. Chamberlain made about 650 feet of film. His speech dealt mainly with foreign affairs, in regard to which he said: "Can we keep out of war without sacrificing our obligations or dishonouring our obligations?"

"Although it takes two to make peace, one (power) can make war," he said. "If we are attacked, we should have to defend ourselves."

Envy Of Autograph Hunter

Only Really Famous Sign Visitors' Book At Niagara Falls

A book of signatures which would make the most critical autograph hunter grin with envy is tucked away in the safe of the state reservation police at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

It contains the signatures of Queen Marie of Romania, the former Prince of Wales (now Duke of Windsor), King Leopold of Belgium, William Jennings Bryan; Presidents William McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft and Franklin D. Roosevelt; Will Rogers and Sarah Bernhardt.

Chief Tracy G. Levee and his reservation police have all these and a great many more in their big leather-bound book for the signatures of "distinguished persons."

Almost a quarter of a century ago the park commission asked the police to obtain the autographs of "distinguished" persons who visit Niagara Falls. The book is almost as bare as it was 25 years ago, because the force is probably the most "choosy" autograph-hunting group in the world.

Gold Bullion

Report States France Is Shipping

Two equal shipments of gold with a total value of $5,000,000 ($25,000,000) have been arranged from France for Canada, the London News-Chronicle says.

The shipments are to be made by the British authorities and represent gold earmarked in Paris for the account of the British exchange equalization fund.

The News-Chronicle advances two possible explanations of the transaction. It may represent sales of gold bullion to the Bank of Canada or the British authorities may think it desirable to accumulate, for their account, a reserve of gold in Canada.

Two doctors have been added to the staff of a Paris hotel. On being assured that no reflection on his ability was intended, the chef agreed to remain.

CANADA COULD AID BRITAIN BY BUILDING PLANES

London.—The government was in effect a vote of confidence in its air rearmament program after announcing its first-line aircraft strength would be doubled by 1940.

Opposition members and a number of Conservatives had demanded an investigation of reasons why Great Britain's aircraft production was lagging behind Germany's and the issue came to a head in the House of Commons in an opposition Liberal party move to reduce appropriations for the air ministry. The attempt was defeated 299-131. The vote indicated approximately 100 government supporters abstained from registering their opinion. Labor voted with Liberals against the government.

Facing a barrage of criticism from both sides of the two houses, Earl Winterton in commons and Viscount Swinton in the house of lords, said the new objective was 3,500 first-line machines within two years. Both the government spokesmen declared their conviction Canada was a valuable potential source of supply of aircraft in emergency. Lord Swinton, the air secretary, told the house of lords it would be possible to fly Canadian-built planes across the Atlantic.

Lord Winterton assured the house the question of purchase of aircraft in Canada "is being investigated and in due course results of the investigation will be communicated to the house."

He declared: "For reasons I cannot communicate to the house, things have advanced in Canada in the matter of construction considerably more than they had a short time ago and opportunities are perhaps greater to-day than they were." He stated his conviction Britain would receive "full co-operation" from Dominion governments in an emergency.

After the vote 20 government supporters signed a motion asking appointment of an independent committee to investigate the air defence. Both Liberal and Labor parties tabled motions demanding an investigation.

Lord Winterton, chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster and air ministry spokesman in the House of Commons, told the house of commons he was giving consideration to the possibilities of Canada's "war potentialities." It was not conceivable, he said, that Britain in certain emergencies should not receive "the fullest co-operation from other governments in the empire," and declared: "Such (air) forces as are being formed at the present time in the dominions... in a short time will be very efficient."

Both spokesmen said that as a plane output of the present financial year would increase more than 50 per cent, and next year would double this year's production.

Lord Swinton said air party with other countries was a bad term. He suggested Britain should rather have an air force "wholly adequate for our necessities." Answering demands for a ministry of supply he said that if ever the government were satisfied this would be used they should not hesitate to have one.

The air secretary declared the aviation industry was employing more than 80,000 men early in 1938, compared with 30,000 in 1935. He said that could produce aircraft required for the defence program had received additional orders which will occupy the maximum capacity of the next two years.

In addition to all-metal planes for the regular service, the Royal Air Force was using training machines of mixed wood and metal construction—a type which might form a valuable auxiliary supply.

Says Ethiopia Not Conquered

Halle Selassie says Fighting In His Country Is Continuous

Geneva.—Halle Selassie, through his Geneva representatives, sent the League of Nations council a statement to show Italy had not yet completely conquered his empire.

Basing the report on "despatches received by His Majesty from Ethiopia and other places," it said fighting has been continuous in many parts of the country and there have been revolts in others.

In western and northern Ethiopia, it said, a total of 5,993 Italian and native Askari troops had been killed in fighting and Ethiopian guerrilla controlled a large part of Gofja and Shoa provinces.

In the south, it stated, Italians exercised no control over Danakil or Aissa provinces and held only five towns in the vast north and south western areas of more than 30,000 square miles.

Divorce Bill

Ottawa Has Specific Authority To Legislate On Marriage

Ottawa.—So long as parliament keeps away from matters relating to the solemnization of marriage, it has complete jurisdiction to legislate on marriage and divorce. Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen argued in the senate. He spoke in the debate on the motion to approve the report of the senate committee on the divorce bill of Senator Lendrum McMeans (Cons., Winnipeg).

He disagreed with Sir Allen Ayiesworth (Lib., North York), who contended that in treating of legitimacy of children, provision for the children of divorced couples, and nullity of marriages, the bill encroached upon civil rights exclusively reserved to jurisdiction of the provinces.

The British North America Act vested the Dominion with specific authority to legislate on marriage, the Conservative senate leader said. It was a proper assumption of powers of the act had in mind all the elements relating to matrimonial causes which had been embraced by the term throughout the centuries. Such being the case, these elements were included in the word when the B.N.A. act was adopted in 1867.

If that were not so, said Mr. Meighen, then the Dominion had no jurisdiction whatever to legislate on anything pertaining to marriage. The Conservative leader's speech wound up the debate and the senate adopted the committee's report. The bill, which seeks to widen the grounds for divorce now stands for third reading.

Rumors Unfounded

Denies Britain Trying To Persuade U.S. Not To Lift Embargo On Shipments To Spain

London.—Prime Minister Chamberlain denied in the House of Commons the British government was trying to persuade the United States not to lift its embargo on shipments of arms to Spain.

Geoffrey Mander, Liberal, asked if there was any foundation for rumors that "the British government are trying to discourage the American government from taking any action regarding war supplies for the Spanish factions."

The prime minister replied: "None whatever." The prime minister refused to answer Arthur Henderson (Labor), who asked: "Is it not evident there is a considerable volume of feeling in the United States which regards the arms embargo as a gross betrayal of Spanish democracy?"

The prime minister also rejected a proposal that Great Britain and the United States offer to mediate to restore peace between Japan and China. "The prime minister is not prepared to be served by offering mediation until both sides have signified their willingness to accept it," he said.

Season's First Crop Report

Indicates A Decrease Of 1,400,000 Acres Sown To Wheat

Ottawa.—A decrease of nearly 1,400,000 acres in the area sown to spring grains in Canada in 1938 was indicated by farmers' intentions as of May 1, the Dominion bureau of statistics first crop report of the present season said.

The intended area of spring wheat is 24,105,900 acres, compared with 24,851,400 acres sown in 1937 and 26,646,100 acres in the peak year 1932. The indicated decrease in the spring wheat area from that of last year is 745,500 acres, or three per cent. The principal decrease will occur in Saskatchewan, while increases are indicated in Manitoba and Alberta.

Durum wheat acreage will be decreased considerably from 2,222,000 acres sown in 1937 to 1,693,000 acres intended for 1938. This decrease will take place mainly in Manitoba, where it will be more than offset by an increase in the sowing of rust-resistant bread wheats. Oats and barley are also expected to show decreases of three and five per cent respectively, with the principal reductions occurring in Saskatchewan.

Composite Aircraft

London.—The Mayo composite aircraft successfully completed its first aerial flight with the normal load the upper plane would carry on the trans-Atlantic flights for which it was built. Separation in flight of the upper plane from the lower, more powerful craft used in the takeoff, occurred without a hitch.

Aeroplane Pilots Killed

London.—Four aeroplane crashes, in which eight flyers died raised the total of deaths in the Royal Air Force's preparatory program to 70 in 45 accidents since Jan. 1, 1935.

SAYS REALIST DIPLOMACY MUST LEAD TO WAR

Geneva.—Government Spain, upsetting a majority of the League of Nations council, prolonged its bitter battle to remove control of intervention in the Spanish civil war from the hands of the non-intervention committee.

Supported by Soviet Russia and New Zealand, Julio del Vayo, the Barcelona delegate, won further consideration of the Spanish issue which Great Britain and France sought to dispose of.

Halle Selassie's fight to save the last legal trace of claim to his toppled Ethiopian throne, however, appeared crushed.

Two of his backers, China and Soviet Russia, decided not to oppose Anglo-French efforts to win the league's permission to recognize Italy's conquest of Ethiopia—a necessary preliminary to French and British friendship pacts with Italy.

Besides the bitter Spanish and Ethiopian questions, two other sharp issues were raised at the council meeting. They were:

1. The threat of Dr. Agustín Edwards, Chilean delegate, Chile would withdraw from the league, taking other nations with her, unless demands for reform of the league covenant were heeded.

2. Switzerland's insistence on complete neutrality—freedom from all obligations as a league member—by a "special exceptional statute."

Alvarez del Vayo warned he was placing "a matter of greatest gravity before the council and it is the council's responsibility if it is treated lightly." Although his demand for more time before making a final statement obviously upset a council majority, it was granted with the agreement of Viscount Halifax, British for-ign minister.

Lord Halifax and Georges Bonnet, French foreign minister, both of whom defended word of the "hands off Spain" committee, drew the ire of Maxim Litvinoff, Russian commissar of foreign affairs.

"They say non-intervention prevented war," thundered Litvinoff, turning to the British and French diplomats.

"It says it led Europe into war on a large scale with Spain fighting two European powers."

William J. Jordan, of New Zealand, also went to Alvarez del Vayo's defense, calling the fiery words of the Spanish delegate "surprisingly moderate" and asking the league to examine the intervention question.

Alvarez del Vayo declared the Anglo-Italian agreement exemplified the "realist diplomacy" which he said would lead Europe to war. He said government Spain sought only restoration of its right to import war materials, "a simple re-establishment of ordinary rules of industrial law."

Mr. Jordan declared that in New Zealand's opinion every effort should be made "to make it possible for the people of Spain to decide their own differences" without intervention of other nations.

Sympathy with the Spanish people in its suffering but firm refusal to give up their 22-month policy of non-intervention comprised the substance of statements by Lord Halifax and Bonnet.

Alvarez del Vayo declared Britain and France may some day be the targets for Fascist aggression now being perpetrated against Spain.

"Two nations are pushing continual intervention in foreign countries," he asserted. "The events in Austria and Spain, the threats against Czechoslovakia prove it. Half a dozen European nations are confronted with the alternative of bowing or disappearing."

What he sought from the league he told in a few words.

"The Spanish government ought to have the right freely to buy war material," he pleaded. "We ask no more, but we cannot accept less." The big democracies have deserted Spain and are consorting with the dictatorships toward its conquest, he charged.

"The republican government was counted on to disappear before the council session," Alvarez del Vayo caustically remarked, "but our desire to be courteous could hardly go as far as suppressing ourselves."

Strikes During April

Involved 2,874 Workers And Caused Serious Time Loss

Ottawa.—Canada's 15 strikes and lockouts during April caused time loss of 17,548 man-working days and involved 2,874 workers compared to 19 disputes involving 2,406 employees in the previous month. The department of labor announced. In April, 1937, 37 disputes involved 12,771 workers.

More than 80 per cent. of the time loss in April was due to strikes of taxicab drivers at Toronto, steamship workers on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence, and sawmill workers at Fort Frances, Ont.

Rock Slide In Mine

Gigantic Cave-In At Kirkland Lake Traps Miners

Kirkland Lake, Ont.—One man was injured and two other miners were trapped by falling rock when a rock burst occurred at the 2,800-foot level of the Lake Shore Gold Mines here.

The slide, one of the worst in the history of the mine, shook the town. Peter West and a man named Bolan were trapped when the rock burst caused a gigantic cave-in deep in the shaft. A man named Fancel was slightly injured but was brought out from the scene of the accident without difficulty. They were said to be in no danger unless another slide occurred.

Protest Bombing

Charge Deliberate Bombing Of British Ships In Valencia

London.—Great Britain has protested to General Franco over the alleged deliberate air bombing of British ships in Valencia harbor.

Instructions have been sent to Sir Robert Hodgson, British agent at Burgos, Ricardo Bugar, under-secretary for foreign affairs, told the House of Commons, to address a strong protest to the Burgos authorities against what appears to be the British government to "be an entirely unwarrantable act."

WOULD OPPOSE DUPLICATION OF RAILWAY LINES

Ottawa.—Creation of a budgeting and planning commission without whose approval no railway extensions could be built in future was suggested before the senate special committee on the railway condition of Canada by S. W. Fairweather, director of the bureau of economics of the Canadian National railways.

He advanced the proposal as a means of avoiding uneconomic duplication of railway lines by new building and added the possibility of a provincial legislature authorizing construction of a new railway line constituted a "problem in interprovincial relations" which should be taken up.

Mr. Fairweather referred to the proposed Canadian Pacific line into the Rouyn-Ste-Ferme area of northern Quebec in 1936 as an attempt to perpetrate "an economic crime" on the people of Canada.

The territory was already served by a C.N.R. line from the national transcontinental, built when the Noranda mine was discovered and at some risk after the C.P.R. had refused to build. Had the Canadian National not built its line in the first instance there would have been no Noranda mine, which had added hundreds of millions of dollars to the national wealth.

Yet the Canadian Pacific had gone to the Quebec legislature and sought and obtained permission to build a line which would be a senseless duplication and would take $3,000,000 a year out of the C.N. treasury.

The line had not been built as yet and the C.N.R. had struck it, obtained permission to extend its own line and was actively building.

The C.P.R. had approached the C.N.R. for running rights "to take traffic away from a line that was just beginning to show the fruitful husbandry exercised on it from 1916." If the C.N.R. had turned down the Noranda interests, who asked for the line in 1924, said Mr. Fairweather, he didn't know where Noranda mine would have been.

Earlier Mr. Fairweather estimated under present conditions a maximum saving of $10,000,000 a year could be effected by co-operation between the two railways.

Reviews, proposals he had made before the Duff commission Mr. Fairweather said he still favored pooling of passenger services but did not consider a complicated set-up with a new company necessary and still believed in a merger of telegraph services, co-operation in hotel management and joint operation of Pacific coast steamships.

Pooling of freight services at certain points would have to wait until capital was available.

Interchange of equipment was still a field for savings with regard to locomotives where one company had surplus of equipment in periods of peak traffic. With regard to cars interchange was not as attractive as in 1932 because satisfactory arrangements had since been made between the companies without co-operative agreements. Economies suggested in advertising co-operation had been partly arranged.

QUEBEC WOULD LIMIT AUTHORITY OF OTTAWA

Quebec.—The Quebec government does not recognize the authority of the federal government to grant to any commission the power to investigate provincial government finances, the Rowell commission was informed in the most "emphatic manner" as it opened its Quebec sittings.

"The federal government is no more entitled to examine the financial position of the provinces than the provinces would be to investigate the financial position of the federal government," said Emory Beaulieu, counsel to the provincial government.

"To recognize the jurisdiction of your commission would amount to an acknowledgment that there existed in favor of the federal government a superior right of provincial governments. Notwithstanding its deep respect for the members of your commission, this government feels that by so doing it would fall in its duty."

On behalf of the Quebec government Mr. Beaulieu endorsed the stand taken by Ontario's Premier Mitchell Hepburn before the commission 10 days ago opposing any further centralization of governmental power.

"In the opinion of this province, confederation was a compact voluntarily entered into and it cannot be modified except with the consent of all parties," he contended. "This province intends to fulfill all its obligations thereunder and it expects that others will do the same."

Quebec held that the federal government had never completely fulfilled its obligations regarding provincial subsidies. It felt a readjustment was in order, "taking into account the population of the various provinces, the present needs of each province and also the sacrifices made in the past by some of them with a view to developing the country."

"The honorable prime minister for the province of Ontario has clearly demonstrated before your commission that if some provinces have been prejudicially affected by the confederation, it is not the western provinces. For this additional reason, the government of this province also wishes to thank him publicly," Mr. Beaulieu said.

Dr. Joseph St-Onge acted as chairman as Hon. N. W. Rowell is confined to his Toronto home with an indisposition.

If Canada is to prosper and progress it must become a national entity, as was intended at confederation, instead of degenerating into "nine selfish entities" as at present, the Montreal board of trade asserted.

The Montreal board directly contended what it saw as the growing tendency of provinces to become so immersed in their own problems they forgot the welfare of the nation and "the rights of citizens as individuals."

The board held a readjustment of Dominion-provincial financial relations essential. It considered a single jurisdiction and uniformity of administration of some social services would be "in the best interests of efficiency and sound public finance," even though it involved a constitutional redistribution of powers between Dominion and provinces.

If that were impossible, it contended a readjustment of taxing powers would be necessary to make them conform to the responsibilities of the respective governments.

Among its other specific recommendations, the board attacked the practice of capitalizing relief expenditures, urged standardized public accounts throughout the country, elimination of tax duplication by reciprocal agreement between the provinces, greater stress on income taxes and less on sales taxes.

Will Be Granted Leave

PAY AS YOU ENTER

The good burghers of Saskatchewan, so it seems, are pleading with the Hon. William Aberhart and his colleagues to lead them out of economic bondage. While Saskatchewan papers have so far overlooked the pleadings of the people, this means that the Saskatchewan press, like that of Alberta, has entered into a conspiracy of silence to keep the burghers in ignorance.

Hearing heard their plea, William Aberhart heroically rushes to their assistance. Sparing neither time nor energy, but making sure first that the burghers of Saskatchewan can pay for a crusade, Alberta's premier makes ready to gird up his loins and enter the fray.

And it is this pay as you enter system which strikes us as peculiar. Any crusaders who feel deep in their hearts that the burghers of any land require saving, don't wait for payment. Premier Aberhart, the Hon. E. C. Manning and other cabinet ministers of the Social Credit government of Alberta plan to turn their attention to Saskatchewan during their regular working hours and without deducting anything from their salaries for time off—yet the Social Crediters of Saskatchewan must guarantee that all expenses must be met before the crusade gets under way.

Sunday, Premier Aberhart threatened to cut off the mid-week broadcasts unless the people forked out more money. Time and again he has threatened to curtail Bible Institute activities, radio, Sunday Schools, broadcasts and Social Credit campaigning—unless the people sent more money with which to pay for these services.

In the meantime Premier Aberhart is enjoying a $9,000 salary, life at the most exclusive hotel in Alberta, a custom-built automobile, chauffeur and all the luxuries of a potentate, while he blathers week after week about saving the people from a dog eat dog system.

The test of a man's sincerity is to make some personal sacrifice on behalf of progress. If Mr. Aberhart believes that the people of Alberta and Saskatchewan are in need of economic and spiritual salvation, we suggest that he show his sincerity by offering, just for once, to do something for the people without first asking for out-of-pocket expenses.—Drumheller Plaindealer.

Strong disapproval of the Alberta government's action in closing government house was expressed by the Orange Grand Lodge of Alberta in session at Edmonton. "The lieutenant-governor, being the direct representative of the King, it is felt that refusal to maintain this office in a suitable manner borders on disloyalty, and the government is requested to reconsider its decision," the resolution said.

Inquiries made from the various divisional offices of The Canadian Institute for the Blind in March, disclosed that in British Columbia 47 men and women had received pension cheques, in Alberta none, in Saskatchewan 53, in Manitoba 82, in Ontario 683, in Quebec 566, in Prince Edward Island 22, in New Brunswick 66, and in Nova Scotia 131—a total of 1,650. It is just a year since the act providing for pensions for the blind became law.

A farmer standing on the street watching the rain pouring down, and thinking of big crops, was heard to remark: "Just to think, the rupture is here at last, and the angels are all away in Saskatchewan!"

Just as the Brooks Bulletin was going to press last week end, Aberhart's voice appeared on the air. The paper was so upset that half of it still appears upside down. Pow! ful man, dah! Able!

Every town has its business men—so-called merchants—who do not believe in advertising if they have to pay for it; merchants who like to see others advertise, while they reap the benefits of the trade that comes in.

Aberhart's truest statement was made Sunday night last: "We shall see what we shall see." That's all we've seen in Alberta—and what a hope for Saskatchewanites seeing more!

Ladies, hide away your jewelry, silk dresses and other valuables, for it won't be long now before Able'll be after them for a luxury tax. But, don't worry over your car—it isn't luxury any more.

Two men are making a survey, in view of having the East Kootenay power line routed through the town of Lundbreck, and possibly Cowley. The line at present runs two miles south of these towns.

There are already 12,000 veterans in receipt of allowances under the War Veterans' Allowance Act in Canada. Under amendments to the act passed this year, it is believed that a further five or six thousand ex-service men will be provided for.

Excursion rates are being offered by Central Canadian Greyhound Lines, covering the Victoria Day holiday, between all points at fare and a quarter return. Ticket sale opens May 20 to May 24, with return limit May 25. See ad elsewhere in this issue.

The most one could hear on the air Sunday night was: "Thanks to the sponsors, and the good people, far and near for their donations toward our worthy cause"—$5.00 here, five bucks there, $15.50 somewhere else helps to fill the jeans. Thanks, again, to the sponsors—they never will learn!

"On what grounds can they (Aberhart and his gang) justify their WORKS in Alberta? It is difficult to state. Surely if they try to proclaim the $25 monthly dividend, the people of Saskatchewan will laugh them out of hearing. Just point to Alberta: Increased salaries to themselves, increased taxes for the masses, uncertain legislation—a pretty record on which to canvass a new field.—Strathmore Standard.

SEVEN SOUND RULES

FOR OUR NEXT WAR

Seven years ago, the "next war" was a little farther off than it is today, but the Los Angeles Record had a few rules drawn up at that time. They still sound reasonable.

1. That all Congressmen and Senators voting for war be given the choice of enlisting in shock troops or being shot on the Capitol steps.
2. That each battleship, cruiser and submarine shall carry as excess baggage one or more stockholders in battleship building concerns.
3. That all manufacturers of war supplies be hanged when their profits reach the million dollar mark.
4. That all holy men who announce to their congregations that "God is fighting with us" be despatched to interview God personally and find out if what they say is true.
5. That college professors be stopped from delving into history to prove that the enemy always was a low-down scoundrel anyway.
6. That the secret service be restrained from discovering "enemy plots" every time someone turns on a light in the parlor.
7. That the cause of war shall be clearly stated to the nation as the reduction of unemployment and not disguised as a holy war to save civilization.

An exchange remarks: Judging from the Sunday Social Credit political religious and sacrilegious broadcast over the radio, the Social Crediters in Alberta can be divided into two classes, those active and those passive. The press for action indicate that with the $25 monthly dividend, and the numerous other promises, things of the past, thousands have quit Social Credit.

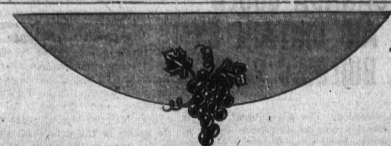

Has Able ever suggested cutting down the personnel of the government, in the interest of economy, and in the greater interest of the poor tax-burdened people of Alberta? No, and he never will, unless the poor people step out and cut down his own income from their pockets.

The Alberta government house, now vacant, may yet be needed for a good purpose, as the Ponoka institution is near to overflowing. Besides, considerable material is to be tested out in Saskatchewan in the next two weeks, and extra accommodation should be available.

These new medals we are to receive for $2.50, and for being fishermen, are patterned somewhat along the lines of the Pulitzer medals recently awarded members of the Alberta press. The only difference, maybe, is that with the fishing medal you require 'thin paper, while with the Pulitzer coin no such thing is necessary.

Rev. Dr. Peter Bryce, moderator of the United Church of Canada, assisted at the funeral services for the late Mrs. W. D. Herridge at Vancouver. The remains were laid to rest beside those of her sister, Mrs. Evelyn Coates, in Mountain View cemetery. Mr. Herridge and her brother, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, of Ottawa, were in attendance.

Alberta editors are expected to gather in Edmonton or Calgary soon, when Mr. Aberhart, premier of Alberta, will be called upon to present them with medals and certificates awarded them in recognition of the great fight against the Aberhart government for freedom of the press. There will be no intermission during the programme to permit the ushers accepting the offering.

TURNER VALLEY
FIELDS LAVISHLY ADD
TO NATIONAL WEALTH

The Turner Valley oil fields may play the role of Santa Claus for the nation to the tune of $10,000,000 for the year 1938.

Production in the field last year had a value of approximately $5,000,000, a welcome addition to the national wealth. This was not merely the result of drilling a number of oil wells. It was the result of patient and costly search for oil in the west, and the sequel to an efficient application of co-operation on the part of the pipe lines, railways, and refiners, as the oil business has ever been able to record.

By this co-operation the producers, the transport agencies, and the refiners, made it possible for the prairie consumer to get his supplies of light petroleum products at substantially reduced prices. Some $5,000,000 will be saved to consumers in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba this year because of lower prevailing prices. This computation assumes that consumption this year will be the same as in 1937. If it is larger, the benefit will be proportionately greater.

Even though it only equals that of 1937, and that production in the Turner Valley is only as large as last year, there will be a net benefit of more than $10,000,000 to the country.

A meeting of the National Conservative party of the Lethbridge federal riding will be held in that city this evening to name delegates to attend the convention at Ottawa on July 5 and 6 for electing a leader to take the place of Rt. Hon. B. B. Bennett, who has resigned.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

Mrs. D. Grant entertained a number of ladies to a whist drive at her home on Monday evening. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. J. Ironmonger, junior, first, and Mrs. W. Fisher, second.

Mrs. Rees Richards and son Gwyn, accompanied by Mrs. H. Creighton, motored home from Edmonton Saturday. Gwyn returned to Edmonton on Sunday to fill his position in the University laboratory, and will start out with a soil survey party on the 28th.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Cruickshank returned Thursday from Spokane, where they had been holidaying.

The United church, Ladies' Aid held a very successful tea and sale of home cooking in the church on Saturday afternoon.

C. C. Brenner, public schools inspector, was a visitor to Grade I of the local school on Wednesday afternoon of last week.

At the Sunday evening service at the United church, conducted by Rev. John Wood, vocal solos were rendered by Mr. G. Burles, of Blairmore.

Hot air peddled through the mists from Calgary on Sunday, May the 8th, was declared to have been in the interest of the good people of Saskatchewan—or what he could get out of them.

Drumheller's civic swimming pool was opened officially on Saturday last. The difference between the Drumheller pool and the one at Lundbreck Falls is that the Drumheller pool has considerably more water in it.

An eagle in the Edmonton zoo has hatched two goslings and is feeding them. It is reported there is going to be a change in the Edmonton cabinet. Why not get that eagle in the cabinet to feed the hungry Albertans.—Ex.

Joseph Purvis, aged 64, passed away in Calgary yesterday morning. He is survived by his wife; three sons, Walter, of Coleman; Joseph and Thomas, of Calgary; a sister, Mrs. M. Macdonald, and a brother, Thomas, in England.

A district centre of the Alberta Music Teachers' Association has been formed in Red Deer. It includes qualified teachers of music in the district between Ponoka and Innisfail, and extending east and west from Stettler to Rimbey and Rocky Mountain House.

A border minister preached a sermon on the duty of wives: "There is, alas, a woman in this congregation who is often guilty of disobedience to her husband. To make an example of her, I will bring my book at her head." He lifted up his book, and instantly every married woman ducked.

All Aberhart's movements are supposed to have been predicted through passages of the scriptures. Please, Mr. Aberhart, tell us where reference is made to the farmers' production tax act, or the mortgage relief act? Or, in fact, any other act adopted by the Alberta Social Credit regime since 1935?

George M. Spargo, of Edmonton, director of fisheries for Alberta, and D. A. Richardson, of Calgary, inspector, were visitors to The Pass the early part of the week in the interest of fishing regulations and improving conditions. While here, the visitors were accompanied by Joe Cardinal, who is now connected with the game and fish department as warden in this territory.

"It can no longer be said that a man who served with Canada in an actual theatre of war, who has now, through sickness or age, become incapable of maintaining himself, has to beg or sell matches to get a living. Canada is to be congratulated on the most progressive legislation on behalf of returned men that is known anywhere within the British Empire."

—S. G. Petley, provincial secretary of the Canadian Legion of the B.E.S.L.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY
STAFF FOUNDATION LIBRARY

Something new in group education for adults is to be found in the newly published Staff Foundation Library of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The ten books comprising this library cover all phases of the company's operations in addition to encouraging study designed to make Canadian Pacific employees better citizens. The volumes were arranged and edited by John Murray Gibson, general publicity agent of the company.

Publication of the books followed the requests of many employees for a reading guide and source of information on matters affecting group citizenship, such as Canadian history, geography, and economics. The name "Foundation Library" has been aptly chosen because it is hoped that reading of the books will encourage company employees to further study, to aid which a list of other books on similar subjects has been printed in the back of each volume.

In dealing with the distribution of the books, the company's Education Committee wisely decided that in addition to presenting information on a wide variety of serious subjects, the cost must be low to appeal to the largest number of employees possible. Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., K.C., LL.D., chairman and president, made the decision possible by ruling that the company should absorb more than half the cost of the books.

Only two of the books deal specifically with the railway, its problems and its history. These books are "Canadian Pacific Facts and Figures" and "Factors in Railway and Steamship Operation." They contain a brief history of the Canadian Pacific as well as facts and figures illustrating the many activities and accomplishments of the various services of the company on land and sea. These are supplemented by interesting features such as an analysis of the organization of the company into its various departments, with a breakdown of personnel, showing the astonishing variety of the work done by Canadian Pacific employees. Biographies are given of Canadian railway directors. Diagrams show how the Canadian Pacific dollar is earned and spent. There are numerous articles dealing with such subjects as Atlantic and Pacific fleets, cruises, coastal and inland lake services, docks, terminals and yards, shops, semi-streamlined trains as well as special chapters on different departments.

Other books are: "Speaking in Public," revised and enlarged for use by study groups and debating clubs, by Frank Home Kirkpatrick, special lecturer in public reading and speaking in McLaughlin University; the University of Toronto Extension Courses, etc. Included in the book are specimen addresses by great Canadians.

"Correspondence and Salesmanship" in three parts. Part I is "Business Letters," by J. M. Kennedy, Sir Isaac Pitman and Sons; Part 2, "The Personality of the Salesman," by William F. Gregory, I.A., instructor in salesmanship and vocational adviser, Western High School of Commerce, Toronto; Part 3, "Salesmanship as Applied to Railway Traffic," by Charles E. Parks.

"A Dictionary of Correct English," by M. Alderton Pink, M.A., Sir Isaac Pitman and Sons. This is a manual of information and advice concerning the grammar, idiom, choice of words, style, punctuation, pronunciation and other practical matters.

"French Self-Taught," the Thimble System by J. Lafitte, B.E.L., principal French master, City of London School. Of interest to Canadian Pacific people is a list of conversational phrases adapted to requirements of rail passenger traffic, telegraph business, and steamship business.

"The Dominion of Canada," an economic and social history, by J. H. P. Morrison, M.A., Herbert Heston, professor of economic history, University of Minnesota; and political institutions of Canada, adapted from a survey made by a committee of the Montreal Junior Board of Trade.

"An Introduction to Economics" for Canadian readers, by Duncan Macleod, and Alexander MacGibbon, professor of political economy in the University of Alberta.

"The History of Canada Through Biography" by W. J. Carr, director of English Instruction, Department of Education, Ontario. In addition to short biographies of most famous Canadians is a special section concerning the four presidents of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"Canada Sings," containing 188 familiar songs arranged for four voices and suitable for the piano. It is ideal for home use or for those interested in forming choral societies and glee clubs.

An important business deal was up through last week end, whereby what was known as Sawfey Store, Pincher Creek, became the property of F. T. Edwards, proprietor-editor of the Pincher Creek Echo. The store is to be run along the same lines as before, with Lawrence Diamond as manager.

Gus Gustason, popular member of the Drumheller Miners' hockey team, has strayed from the narrow and on Saturday, May the 7th, entered into a marriage contract with Miss Hanna Paulson, member of the nursing staff of the Drumheller Municipal hospital. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Warwick Kelloway at Knox United church, Calgary.

BELLEVUE HAPPENINGS

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the car of Joe Vanier (Pie) in the garage by his home here on Sunday morning, at about 5 o'clock. Smoke issuing from the building was noticed by the driver and a passenger on the westbound Greyhound bus, who aroused Mr. Vanier and assisted in drawing the burning car out of the building, just in the nick of time, for in another half minute the entire place, including his home and service station, would have been enveloped in flames. A truck belonging to Mr. Vanier, and a sedan car belonging to a Hillcrest citizen, were in the garage, and would also have burned up had it not been for the bus happening along at the time. We understand that no insurance was carried.

A number of local Rebekahs journeyed to Coleman on Tuesday night to attend the lodge meeting there, at which the provincial president, Sister M. Fox, paid her official visit.

Mrs. A. Hallworth left Tuesday for a visit to her old home in England.

Mrs. E. W. Christie returned over the week end from a visit of several days to Lethbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Meade and Mr. G. Charlesworth were motor visitors to Lethbridge on Thursday.

The home of Mr. G. K. Sirett was the scene of a delightfully arranged social evening on Thursday last, in honor of Mrs. Frank Turner (nee Marjorie Clayton). The evening was spent at bingo, following which the hostess served a delightful luncheon, assisted by her two daughters, Hilda and Pearl, Mrs. Humble and Miss Ethel Clayton. Mrs. Humble then, on behalf of the ladies assembled, presented Mrs. Turner with a beautiful green tapestry occasional chair. Mrs. Turner very ably thanked the ladies for their kindness. The party broke up about midnight.

The Oddfellows acted as hosts to the Rebekahs and friends at the close of their regular meeting on Monday evening. Whist was played, following which all sat down to a supper of fish and chips. The whist prizes were won by Mrs. Watts Goodwin and Mrs. B. Saylor for the ladies, and N. Spooner and B. Burton for the men. Dancing brought a most pleasant and successful evening to a close.

It had to fall to the lot of the Junior Section of the Calgary Board of Trade to start a campaign of boosting and advertising Alberta. Part of their literature is now being distributed in the form of large posters asking the public to get out and boost for this fair province in the face of obstacles unnecessarily being created by our government.

Mr. Businessman! How is your supply of counter check books? Six or eight weeks are required for delivery of these, so be sure your stock of books is sufficient. Counter check books can be ordered through The Enterprise at the same price as you can get them at the factory or from the itinerant salesman. Our prices are f.o.b. the Crows' Nest Pass.

The Dramatic and Choral Speech Festival of the Macleod school inspectorate will be held at Claresholm on Saturday of next week, May 28th. It is anticipated a large number of entries from schools comprising the inspectorate will compete. In the evening a performance will be staged in the Squadron hall, the programme being furnished by the winners in the different classes.

New license plates and forms for fishermen have arrived, and no doubt many a waltzman this season will consider himself living in official capacity once he dons that piece of precious metal and displays his number. This cost of arms marks an advancement for which the Social Credit government of Alberta is largely responsible. We are not sure if the metal would have any value on the junk market, but Ted says he'll sell it to any junk dealer late in the fall or next spring at the rate of $2.00 a ton, plus probably the sales tax.

SOCIAL CREDIT

But the thing that hurts is that the man who was going to give interest-free loans and $25.00 per month to every adult, now says he does not know where to get the money. The man who was going to abolish all taxes, imposes seven per cent on production. The man who does not know where to get the money to increase relief allowances to the unemployed, knows how to get the money from the people for his limousine. And his expert gets $6,000 a year for telling the people who didn't get the $25.00 a month how much they could buy if they only had the money, and he is allowed another $94,000 to tell them with. That's Social Credit—Wm. Irving in The People's Weekly.

We wonder if Mr. Aberhart was speaking the truth on Sunday last when he quoted Premier Patterson as saying "If we hold the election at once, the people will put the Liberals in again. If we defer a few weeks, no one can tell what may happen."

DON'T OVER-RATE
YOUR BANKER

He cannot perform Miracles

There would be more banks than grocery stores all over Canada if banks could perform the miracle of "creating" the means of payment out of nothing.

It is easy to confuse these two things:
(a) The business of commercial banking, and
(b) Control of a nation's monetary system.

Commercial banking has to do with the safe-keeping and lending of money and credit.

Control of a monetary system is a matter of national, governmental policy.

Chartered banks finance production and commerce. Monetary policy in any country is a matter for the national government itself, either directly, or through a central bank.

The Dominion Parliament established Canada's central bank in 1934—the Bank of Canada. Its purpose was declared by Parliament in the very first paragraph of the Act of Incorporation, as follows:

"To regulate credit and currency in the best interests of the economic life of the nation, to control and protect the external value of the national monetary unit and to mitigate by its influence fluctuations in the general price level, and to exercise such powers as may be necessary for the purpose of monetary action, and generally to promote the economic and financial welfare of the Dominion."

It is for governments alone to determine a nation's monetary policy. Differing conditions of debt and trade may make what is wise for one country unwise for another.

Printing "tickets"—as currency has been called in some sections—entirely out of step with production would make everything you buy cost you more. A Canadian woman living in Germany during that country's inflation in 1923 had to pay 65,000,000 marks for an overcoat, and later 1,000,000,000 marks for a postage stamp!

The business of commercial banking is something to be considered by itself, apart from central banking.

A commercial bank takes deposits. There are two kinds of them. For convenience, call them "savings" and "current." Say you are a workman, or a farmer. After you've paid your living costs out of your wages, or out of the proceeds of your crop, you have some dollars left over. Because you do not want to spend them at once you deposit them in a savings account.

That is a savings deposit. As distinguished from this is the "current" account. Say you are a merchant. You have expenses to meet day by day and therefore always carry a balance in an account against which you issue cheques for your business needs.

That is a current account. Let us say you have $100 in that account and you need $1,000 to meet some bills. You borrow it from the bank. You give the manager your note and he places $1,000 to your credit as a deposit in your current account. Immediately your balance goes up to $1,100—$1,000 of it being derived directly from a loan.

It is unlike a savings deposit in this respect: You intend to spend it at once. You immediately issue cheques against it. You borrowed the money for business purposes, prepared to pay interest because the transaction was a profitable one to you. Soon most of the thousand has been paid out.

For most of the rest of the term of the loan your deposit is at its lowest. Then, before your note is due, you gather money to repay. Up goes your deposit to its peak again.

Then you repay. Your deposit abruptly drops back to your original $100—plus the profit you have made, by the use of the borrowed money.

No matter whether bank deposits are savings or current, your bank must keep on hand cash reserves adequate to meet any demands from day to day.

When its loans are increased, not only is more cash paid out—as was the case with your $1,000 loan; but your bank's cash reserves also become lower in proportion to total deposits.

A bank must not unduly expand its lending operations, for then its cash will fall below the proportion which experience has shown to be necessary to meet the day-to-day demands of depositors. This very fact serves as an automatic check against excessive lending.

Your bank cannot know just when you will walk in to withdraw your deposit—but it must be ready to pay you, in full, in cash, when you do turn up.

"I'll sing. I chiseled a watch onto Mom and a heap onto Pop, and now you're going to come across with a typewriter and some gaffs, and help me knock over the Tower of London."

"Suppose I don't?"
"I'll be just too bad for you," said Mervin. "Want me to tell that high-toned Jane you're making a play for that air not n'other, but a small-time bird-stuffer with no more sugar than a louse?"

"Mervin, you wouldn't do that?" said Ernest.

"Not if you supply the cannons and help me with that job."

"But, Mervin, it's a crazy idea. Any one who tried it would be sure to get caught; and besides who'd buy a crown?"

"That's my business," said Mervin. "I got connections in Kansas City that'll buy anything. The job's in the bag, I tell you."

"It's not easy to pick up a machine-gun in England, you know," temporized Ernest.

"That's your head-ache," returned Mervin. "And cut the stallion, see, or I'll put you on the spot. Will your face be red when that snooty mamma gives you the air and her old man puts the boots to you?"

"Won't you give a guy a break?"

"Yeah, I'll give you a break."

"Thanks, Mervin."

"Till tomorrow night. If you don't hand over that typewriter, six automatics, and plenty of stuff, by eight o'clock, I'll set off the fire-works."

"You wouldn't..."

"Business is business," said Mervin.

"You're a nasty little beast."

"Just for that you get me a dozen sticks of dynamite and swipe a high-powered car."

"I'll make sausages of you, you—"

"Oh, yeah?" cried Ernest, starting out of bed.

"Oh, yeah?" said Mervin, gaining the door. "I'll be seeing you, rat."

Junior Public Enemy No. 1 swaggared out of the room.

—The Earl of Bingley was picking at a late breakfast.

"The sins we do by two and two, we pay for, one by one," he remarked.

"Headache, sir?"

"My head," said the earl, "is an old horse's home."

"Some tea, m'lud?" asked Crump.

"Crump," said the earl, "is there anything you think a cup of tea won't cure?"

"No, m'lud."

"I'll try another cup."

"Can I tempt you with a nice kipper, m'lud?"

"Is it my brother's kipper?"

"M'lud."

"So sorry. Just wanted to give you a rough idea how low I feel this sick emma."

"Have the guests gone, sir?" inquired Ernest.

"Most of 'em," replied the earl. "Beddington and bride are staying on till tomorrow. Bumpy could not be moved. Also La Batherry at her own invitation. I hope you don't mind."

"Glad to have them stay, sir."

"Your party is remaining, of course."

"So it seems," Ernest said, gloomily.

"What? Fed up with them already?"

"I've always been fed up with them," burst out Ernest. "I didn't ask them here. I wish they'd go—"

"I rather like one of them," said the earl, worrying his kipper.

"Yes, little Mervin is an attractive boy," said Ernest.

The earl snorted.

"That pestiferous nipper!" he exploded. "Ernest, I warn you, leave of hospitality or no laws of hospitality, if that young wretch keeps calling me 'Mac' and 'Buddy' and keeps pointing fire-arms at me, I shall certainly smack him down."

"I wish you would," said Ernest, fervently. "I'd give a million dollars to get him out of here today."

"Would you really?" said the earl. "I will give the matter thought. But now you must excuse me. Date with a dame."

As he wandered out he said to Crump,

"If I should be wanted urgently—"

Ernest, said Crump—"I'll be found in the lower garden, probably in the maze."

"Very good, m'lud."

He went out, whistling "Sweet Mystery of Life."

"Crump, Mr. Bingley?"

"Have you any conscientious scruples against murder?"

"No, sir. Not in a good cause, sir," said Crump.

"Any experience in deeds of violence?"

"I was a sergeant-major two years in France with the Grenadier Guards, sir."

"Tell me, Crump, what they do to you if you were to measure palely, of course, a certain loathsome small boy?"

"If," said Crump, "you refer to the one to whom I think you refer, I feel reasonably certain that the jury would return the Scotch verdict."

"Scotch verdict? What's that?"

"Not guilty, but don't do it again, sir."

Ernest laughed, but his merriment was only momentary.

"Sharp sounds from the terrace impinged on him, the scuff-scuff-scut of running feet, bleats of protest, fiendish war-whoops."

Crump looked out the window.

"His chasing Sloop with a cutlass, sir," he reported.

"The little hellion!"

"I should not call him a castie type, sir," said Crump.

"It runs in the family," Ernest said.

"Quite so, sir."

"What has Mr. Wyncoop been doing to you, Crump?"

"Attempting to bribe me, sir."

GIN PILLS FOR THE KIDNEYS

"Very good, sir. And may I ask a favor of you?"

"Certainly, Crump."

"Whatly are in Bristol will you ascertain the number of banks there?"

"Banks? Yes, Why?"

"Master Wyncoop has been cross-examining me on the subject of banks in this vicinity, sir."

Bristol-bound, the nucleus of a notion, by Necessity out of Desperation, began to take on size and shape in Ernest Bingley's brain.

In that ancient city he said to a constable,

"Can you tell me where I'll find a shop that rents fancy dress costumes?"

The constable did not bark at him that helping strangers shop was not part of his constabulary duties. He scratched his right ear, then his left, and said,

"Costumes, sir? That would be Dalrymple and Bass, corner of Peel street and Sparrow alley. Turn left at the third pub, keep straight on, and you can't miss it, sir."

Ernest thanked him and presently entered the establishment of Dalrymple and Bass.

It was a hodge-podge of uniforms, false-faces, and dummies dressed as gypsies, pirates and jack tarts. One of the lay-figures made up as a medieval alchemist, in a prelatish frock coat and square green glasses, addressed Ernest.

"How may I serve you, sir?" it purred.

Startled, Ernest answered,

"I want to be a ghost."

"Plain or fancy, sir?"

"Fancy, I guess," said Ernest.

"Maybe too fancy. I'm looking for a seventeenth century suit of black doublet and hose, and a human head to carry under my arm."

"Ah, yes," said the alchemist, matter-of-factly and coldly. "You're a wizard."

A wax-faced sorcerer's apprentice appeared from a back room.

"Yes, Mr. Bass?" he said.

"Show this gentleman our Bingley Ghosts."

"Yes, Mr. Bass. Step this way, sir."

"Do you mean to say you keep them on hand?" demanded Ernest.

"In all sizes, sir," answered Henry.

"Well, I'll be damned!"

Flax Fiber And Wool

May Be Used To Produce Cheap Novelty Dress Materials

The production of yarns and fabrics from a mixture of flax and wool has been engaging the attention of the staff of the Textile Department of the University at Leeds, England, for some months past. As a result, considerable commercial possibilities are visualized, especially in producing novelty dress materials which will be cheap and yet of good appearance.

The cheapness is due to the production by low-cost processes of a flax fiber that readily blends with wool. The fiber is also said to be suitable for blending with mungo, in place of cotton, giving increased tensile strength. The fiber has characteristics similar to cotton, and patterned fabrics are readily obtained in the blend.

One of the retting processes of treating the flax, which occupies a period of weeks, the fiber is produced by an aqua-mechanical process which takes only a few hours. In addition, it is said to produce a higher fabric yield, which makes for its cheapness.

A director of the Lancashire firm of textile machinery makers and a Canadian textile engineer have invented the processes, and their experiments in producing a flax fiber have stretched over a period of four years. A Lancashire firm of textile machinery makers, which has developed machinery for producing the flax fiber, controls the processes.

Dowager Queen Mary has written an autobiography which was secretly printed and now lies locked in a vault of the British Museum, the London Sunday Referee says.

Fantastic Art Ornaments

Writer And Decorator Staged Amazing Exhibition In New York

Remember the exhibition of bad taste" back in 1913, when they gave a moustache-cup tea in New York, and invited all the men with waltz moustaches?

A quarter century after that show proved the myth of art circles on two continents, the woman who planned it opened a second, exhibition—fantastic and amusing art ornaments of the last three centuries.

There was no imitation Venus de Milo with a clock in her diaphragm as there was in 1913. There were no pillow shams embroidered in turkey red cotton, "Mr." and "Mrs."

But there were, to regale New Yorkers:

A porcelain bull-dog clad in a rose-covered nightgown.

A straw deck.

A chapeau chair, really three chairs attached by a left wing—two for a courting couple the third for a splinter aunt.

Wooden hands—they used to adorn Victorian tables.

Busts of a king and queen, with the top of the heads used as vases for marigolds.

There were egg dishes with realistic looking boiled eggs on top, a cabbage dish in the shape of a cabbage, a corn dish shaped like an ear of corn, ash-trays lettered, "La vie est belle," and a lampshade of pink and white feathers.

Ruby Rosa Wood, writer and decorator, who collaborated with James Pendleton in showing the collection, said their purpose was to add to the gaiety of fashions—as she did with her moustache cup tea party.

Has Plenty To Do

Lord High Chamberlain One Of Busiest Officials In Britain

King George of England now has a new lord chamberlain, the Earl of Cromer having retired after 16 years of service, and the Earl of Clarendon taking the job.

There are court positions which are sinecures, but that of lord chamberlain is not one of them. Indeed, he is one of the busiest officials in the kingdom. He runs all the court ceremonies; he passes on the claims of those who wish to be presented to Their Majesties, and at receptions he stands beside them and announces the guests to them. He has charge of whatever residence the King may be using, and sees that everything functions as it should. He appoints the royal attendants. If anyone wishes to be known as hatter to the King, he can't so designate himself without the license of the lord chamberlain. He licenses theatres in many boroughs of London; he has charge of the censorship of plays. Naturally, he can't perform these multifarious duties without a large staff of controllers, secretaries, typists, lords in waiting, grooms in waiting, gentlemen uahers, pages, constables, caretakers and housekeepers, chaplains, librarians, musicians—a whole army of necessary people. Even the post laureate falls under the lord chamberlain's dominion, though about all the official has to do for him is see that he gets his pay.

The lord chamberlain may be a peer and a privy councillor, and he is always a member of the party in power at the time of his appointment; but he continues to hold office in spite of a change of administration, until he gets tired and quits, or is removed.—Detroit News.

Perfectly Safe In Water

Man Found In Birmingham, England, Who Cannot Sink

A man who cannot sink in water has been found at Birmingham, England.

He is Arthur W. Wynn, 57, known as Britain's only "rubber ball" man.

Wynn can lie on the water, read a book, smoke and even go to sleep in perfect comfort. He can propel himself along the water with a pair of paddles like a boat. Once he was bound hand and foot, thrown into a reservoir and pushed under the water with a pole. Every time he bobbed up, smiling to the surface.

Doctors and scientists attribute his non-sinking quality to the fact that his specific gravity is so low that it is a great effort for him to go under water.

On his return to Europe a Dutch professor has reported that after travelling his dog-out canoe up the Marowé River in Dutch Guiana he spent eight months with tribes of natives who had never seen a white man before.

The waiter was called back by the customer, who said, "Take this soup away, there's a button in it."

"Sorry, sir," said the waiter. "It's just a printers error, it should be mutton."

The Paddlewheel Steamer Spent Winter In Lapland

One Of Oldest In World Is To Be Broken Up

Paddlewheel steamships have long since disappeared from the Atlantic service, and now the paddle steamer is becoming scarcer every year on the rivers and lakes. The screw ousted the paddlewheel from the ocean and now the automobile and the bridge are driving it from the fresh waters. One of the oldest paddlewheel steamers in the world, operating out of Weymouth, England, is about to be broken up after a career lasting 92 years. This is the Premier 129 tons, built by Denny's, of Dumbarton, in 1846. In 1853 she went to Weymouth to begin her remarkable career, and since 1876 she has been in the service of her present owners, Gosens & Co. From her home port she has been running to Portland, Lulworth Cove, Torquay Bourne, mouth and Swanage. Her sturdy, seagoing qualities made her a favorite with travellers using these popular routes. The Premier had her adventures, for during the World War she did useful work in transferring naval ratings and landing officers of the fleet. In June, 1932, she was in collision with H.M. submarine Rainbow, off Portland, but the accident brought only temporary retirement. She was repaired and returned to her old service. This year her passenger certificate has not been renewed, and like numerous bigger vessels now scrap, she is to be turned into scrap.

Beautiful Scenic Route

Increase In Traffic Over Chief Mountain International Highway

Motor tourist traffic over the Chief Mountain International Highway, in 1937 showed a large increase over the previous year, according to figures released by the Immigration Branch, Department of Mines and Resources. During the calendar year 27,692 persons passed through the customs port of Chief Mountain, which is located on the International Boundary between Waterton, Lakes National Park, Alberta, and Glacier National Park, Montana. This figure represents a gain of 17,135 or 160 per cent. over the corresponding period in 1936.

Chief Mountain International Highway is a little more than 30 miles in length, about half the distance being in Alberta and the other half in Montana. It was constructed by the governments of Canada and the United States and was opened for travel in 1936. Traversing a magnificent scenic region along the eastern slopes of the Rocky Mountains, the highway provides direct motor road connection between the component parts of the Waterton-Glacier International Peace Park. The highway takes its name from Chief Mountain, the dominant landscape feature along its route in Glacier National Park.

Which Is More Important— FOOD? OR CLOTHING?

IF THE WEST stopped sending food to the East there would be a great outcry. People in the cities and towns beyond the Lakeshead rely on the Prairies for much of their provender. They like things made from Saskatchewan wheat and they give prizes to Manitoba butter. They boast about Alberta beef. They stand next to the United Kingdom as buyers of Prairie wheat. They annually buy nearly 25 million pounds of Western butter. They take a quarter of a million head of cattle, 28,000 calves, 46,000 hogs and 120,000 sheep and lambs.

FOOD IS A NECESSITY. And the West produces, among many other things, very satisfactory food.

DOMINION TEXTILE COMPANY produces clothing material, which is also a necessity. We like to think our materials for shirts, underwear and dresses are in their own way just about as important as the carloads of Western food that seven thousand Dominion Textile Company workers in six Quebec towns annually buy with their five million dollars in wages.

6 YEARS OLD

(A true story)

One of our customers said recently, "Why don't you tell parents that the way to please their children is to let them open a savings account themselves? My little daughter aged six, came to her mother the other day, and said she wanted to go to the bank herself and open an account. Her mother, being wise, called up the Bank Manager, told him the story, and said that her small girl would be in to see him soon. She came again, in the child, clutching a little purse. Signed her name four times (which she told her mother afterwards was foolish) and got her bank book. Did it all herself."

That young lady has the right idea. She regards the bank as HER bank. You can make it yours.
